DF 64 were in the eastern half Station data include vertical distribution of observed temperatures salinities dissolved oxygens and phosphate phosphorus and machine computed densities specific volume anomalies dynamic height anomalies and sound velocities Selected cross section profiles of observed physical and chemical properties are presented to illustrate the water masses in the Ross Sea Water types are defined and discussed From the data presented it is evident that warmer water from oceanic depths moves in over the continental shelf and is forced to the surface causing the central Ross Sea to become ice free earlier than surrounding areas Additionally there is evidence of the formation of colder more dense Shelf Water during the austral winter which acts as a barrier to this warmer water intrusion into the south southwestern extremities of the sea Author Documentary Journal of the General Assembly of the State Indiana Indiana, 1889
